

November 16, 2017
Annual Entertaining Ethics
The Cyborgs are Coming! And They're Bringing Booze!
1:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m.
Bruce Thompson Federal Courthouse

Lots of speakers warn about the run-of-the-mill ethical concerns with technology, but only a select few understand the deep cuts—the cutting edge concerns that are shifting the practice of law and causing ethical headaches for sophisticated lawyers. And with the increased use of technology, there comes increased stress and pressure on members of the bar that cause us to make some unhealthy choices. Join Stuart Teicher, “the CLE Performer” as he helps lawyers navigate the latest and sometimes not-so-greatest ethical issues in technology, and tackles the resulting substance abuse and mental health issues that come from increased pressure on lawyers. Topics include:

- The paradigm shift being caused by Wikileaks and Snowden
- The pitfalls from the LinkedIn/Microsoft merger
- Using Artificial Intelligence Safely...in Plain English
- Phish-Hooked: The Ethical Implications of Getting Scammed Online.
- Twitter Traps You Didn't Consider
- Detection and prevention of substance abuse

And more...